PROFILE

Donnie Boivin has over two decades of experience in sales and he's going to show you what it means to be awesome in your business. He's an expert sales professional and top 200 iTunes podcaster.

At the age of 40, he discovered he had been living other people's dreams and not chasing his own. Taking the biggest risk in his life, he jumped out and started a business. Although he had great success at the start, he quickly understood he knew nothing about being a business owner. Through learning from the mistakes and being at the brink of failure, he gained the experience, perseverance and attitude required to succeed.
